A SPECIFIC
—FOR—
La Grippe, for Colds, Coughs,
AND LUNG TROUBLES,
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

A BROWN LEAF.

In the woods today a leaf fluttered down;
It was wrinkled and old and bent and brown,
But it met the wind and began to play,
And I watched it until it whirled away.

And I could but wonder, when time and grief
Should have made me old and bent as the leaf,
Would my heart be as young and full of glee
As the brown leaf playing in front of me?
—Frank H. Sweet in Ladies' Home Journal.

A GEORGIA COLONEL.

Colonel Joseph George Washington Mills is the king of Red Clay, one of the mountain kingdoms that lie a-straddle of the state line which divides Georgia and Tennessee, and is one of the most noted characters of that mountain region.

In the seventies Colonel Mills was a Republican, residing in Atlanta, and ran for congress on the Republican ticket about the time of the political upheaval that brought on such radical changes in the state government. He was a victim of existing circumstances, and without waiting until the ballots were counted he gave up the fight in disgust.

Not long afterward he removed to the remote corner of the commonwealth where he now resides and possessed himself of the historic town of Red Clay, including the ancient council house where Andrew Jackson and the chiefs of the Cherokees met for the last time preparatory to the removal of the tribes to their new territory in the west. He is full of anecdotes, and his stories carry one back to the days of the old Georgia militia, of which he was one of the commanding officers.

"I shall never forget," said he one day, "my first experience as a drillmaster. I was elected captain of a company down in Cobb county, the muster roll of which included the warlike denizens of the forest depths in the neighborhood of Lost mountain. Hunters, traders, trappers, squatters and crackers of low degree were included in this organization. I knew the character of the men that I had to deal with, and as my father was Major General Enoch R. Mills, then commanding the justly celebrated Georgia militia, I felt that I must keep up the diguity of my office by arraying myself not only in authority, but in all the gorgeous habiliments of a high official in the Georgia militia.

"I called to mind an old friend of my father's, Captain Howell, who lived over in Gwinnett county and who had recently resigned the command of his company. He possessed a gorgeous uniform, with the most fetching epaulets that I ever beheld, and I made up my mind that I would apply to him for the loan of his paraphernalia to wear at my first drill, which was to occur on the following Friday. It was in the heat of the summer, after crops were laid by, so I mounted my gray pony and rode to the home of Captain Howell, who extended to me an exceedingly warm reception. 'Lend you my coat and epaulets?' said he when I told my mission. 'Of course I will. I will do anything for the son of General Mills, who is my warm personal friend, sir, I am proud to say. Try on the coat and let us see how it fits. Aha, it is the very thing. Take it, with my compliments, sir, epaulets and all, and may you wear it with the same distinguished honor with which your esteemed father has won the uniform of a major general of the Georgia militia, sir. Here is my sash, also, sir.' And he handed me a silken sash as long as a fence rail, with a gold fringe on it like an old fashioned window curtain. After bidding him an affectionate adieu, I mounted the gray pony and started back home.

"'Hold on there,' shouted Captain Howell after I had ridden a few paces. 'Here is something else that you will need, Captain Mills.' And he overtook me and handed me a copy of Scott's tactics. I present you with this, sir, as the highest authority in the land. It has been carefully compiled by General Winfield Scott after the most approved methods and usages of the greatest commanders of the age, sir. It is above and beyond all statutory law and is second and subservient only to the constitution of the United States, sir. Only follow its instructions and carry out its regulations and your future is assured, Captain Mills.'

"With the uniform and sash carefully packed in my saddlebags and that copy of Scott's tactics in my left hand I rode off down the winding road in the direction of Lost mountain, where the citizen soldiers of my command were pursuing their peaceful avocations. A casual inspection of the cover of the book showed me a military officer in full regimentals, and as I opened it and began reading my heart swelled and my bosom glowed with military enthusiasm and patriotic ardor.

"About 2 o'clock in the afternoon I arrived in the heart of the forest around Lost mountain, and it occurred to me that as I had never drilled a company of soldiers I ought to engage in some preliminary tactics and not make a display of my ignorance to the men whom I expected some day to lead to glory. So I turned aside into the forest, and after riding for 200 or 300 yards through the densest woods I ever saw I dismounted at the root of a fallen tree and tied my pony.

"Divesting myself of my coat, I put on the emblazoned and epauletted garment presented to me by Captain Howell and invested myself with the glowing sash and its tinseled tassels floating in the wind. Taking position close to the fallen tree, where I thought it would be utterly impossible for any one to come upon me without my discovering his approach, I assumed a haughty and commanding posture, and with a copy of Scott's tactics opened in my hand I began drilling the imaginary squadron.

"'Carry ahms!' I called in stentorian tones.

"'Order ahms!'

"'Right shoulder ahms!'

"'Present ahms!'

"'Recover ahms!'

"Having gone through with this part of the evolutions to my entire satisfaction, I began on that portion of the manual which referred to loading and firing the old flintlock muskets then in use by the Georgia militia.

"'Draw rammer!'
"'Bite off cartridge!'
"'Charge cartridge!'
"'Recover rammer!'
"'Open pan!'
"'Prime pan!'
"'Close pan!'
"'Make ready!'
"'Take aim!'
"'Fire!'
"'Cease firing!'
"'Carry arms!'

"'Well done, comrades,' said I, in a congratulatory voice to my imaginary squadron. 'You do remarkably well for men who have seen so little service.' Then bracing myself against the log I called out:

"'Attention, company!'
"'By the right wheel!'
"'Forward! March!'

"Then I began to imitate the tramp of soldiers, 'hep, hep, hep. Closer order there, men, closer order! Close up the rear rank! Steady men, steady! Halt, comrades!' said I, taking a step forward. 'You must learn to keep step. Keep your eyes front and follow your guides and hold your muskets in position. This will prevent so much confusion.

"'Forward, march! Hep, hep, hep, hep.'

"'Halt!'
"'Stack ahms!'
"'Break ranks!'

"'Comrades,' cried I, in a voice trembling with enthusiasm, 'it affords me pleasure to compliment you upon your proficiency and the care and attention which you have given to these tactics, which are taken from the methods and usages of the greatest commanders of the age. I feel that I can rely upon each and every one of you to do his full duty toward his commander and his country when occasion offers. I feel from your gallant and soldierly bearing and exemplary conduct today that your bosoms are inspired with that patriotic devotion to home and country which are the mainspring of every soldierly virtue. In the flash of your eyes and the bearing of your manly forms I behold that pride of patriotism which should animate our country's defenders, and I know that, should any foe invade our country and attempt any usurpation of our liberties, you would spring to arms and march in the defense of your country and your firesides to death or glorious victory.'

"'Captain Mills,' said I, imitating the supposititious voice of my first lieutenant, 'we have listened with the profoundest pleasure to your words of kindly commendation, which we trust we shall merit in our future conduct. We hope to do full justice to all your expectations, and in the days to come instead of Captain Mills we hope to hail you as Major General Mills, commanding the Georgia militia.'

"'Lieutenant,' said I in a trembling voice, as if too much overcome for utterance and drawing my bandanna handkerchief from my hat, 'I cannot express the feelings of deep gratification which your words have inspired in my heart. I only hope that our relations may be always as pleasant as they have been on this occasion of our first meeting as commander and faithful followers. It is now with feelings of the deepest interest in your future welfare that I bid you goodby.'

"'Captain Mills,' said I, again imitating the lieutenant, 'we all join in returning to you our most hearty good wishes. Comrades, three cheers and a tiger for Captain Mills of the Lost Mountain volunteers.'

"'Hip-hip-hoo-ra-y!'

"When the echoes of that cheer had died away, I pulled off my military coat and sash, carefully wrapped them up and placed them in my saddlebags along with a copy of Scott's tactics, and donning my everyday overcoat I started to mount my horse. I had one foot in the stirrup when I heard a little rustling in the foliage of the fallen tree.

"Turning around, I stood face to face with the tallest mountaineer that I ever laid eyes upon. He rose slowly out of the crotch of the tree, and it seemed to me that he grew taller and taller as he straightened himself. He was red whiskered, red faced and cross eyed, and his flaming hair fell in wild profusion from under his coonskin cap. In his hand he held one of the old fashioned squirrel puncher rifles that glistened in the sun as he fixed me with his stern and baleful gaze.

"'Well,' said he, catching a deep breath, 'I've seen fools, I've read of fools, I've heard of fools, but of all the goldarned fools that ever I saw you are the goldarned infernalest.'

"By that time I had recovered my composure to some extent, and reaching in my pocket I pulled out a $2½ goldpiece, the only money I had.

"'Look here, my friend, I don't suppose that you feel any particular interest in telling about this thing. You just take this and say no more about it.'

"'Well,' said he, sighing regretfully, 'as I am not in the fool killing business I reckon I'll take you up. But I feel that I am missing a mighty fine opportunity.'

"I mounted my horse and rode off, and that cross eyed mountaineer kept his word. But never in all my experience have I had such a close shave as I did on the occasion of my first drill."—Chicago Record.

Different Views.

"Do you ever go to church?" asked a city missionary of a woman who had applied to him for assistance.

"No, I don't," was the reply. "The fact is, I ain't fit things to wear. My husband's been out o' work so long I've run out o' things, and, anyhow, me and my husband have such diff'rent views I'd have to go alone if I went at all."

"What are your views?"

"Well, I'm a Methodist, and my husband, he's one o' these here Knights o' Pythias."—Youth's Companion.

A CAR'S ESCAPADE.

IT STARTED A NEW BREED OF CATTLE IN THE DELAWARE VALLEY.

Coe Little's Bills and His Train Failed to Agree When He Reached Port Jervis. The Explanation Offered For the Car's Strange Freak.

"It isn't likely that there is any of the Coe Little breed of cattle left in the upper Delaware valley," said a veteran railroad man, "because, by this time, their identity must have been destroyed though mixture with other breeds. It doesn't matter, for there was nothing of particular note about that breed of cattle, except the way they happened to be introduced into that locality.

"In those days live stock transportation was one of the Erie's big items of traffic. Trains half a mile long, loaded with horned cattle, horses, sheep and hogs, used to pass over the road two or three times a day. Such a thing is almost a curiosity nowadays. Coe Little was conductor of one of these stock trains between Susquehanna and Port Jervis. He left Susquehanna one night, in those good old days of railroading, with a long train of cattle cars. Those trains were next to passenger trains in class, and were run over the road a-humming. Conductor Little delivered his train at Port Jervis on time, and handed over his way bills, which he had received at Susquehanna, and on which the number, character and contents of every car in his train were recorded. When the agent at Port Jervis compared Little's train on this voucher, one car was missing. The car was entered on the way bill as having left Susquehanna all right, but it wasn't in the train. Its place, according to the bill, was about in the middle of the train.

"Well, here was a situation. Coe Little declared that every car was in the train when he left Susquehanna, for he had chocked the number of each one on the way bill himself. He certainly hadn't delivered the missing car to any one on the way, and he couldn't see how any one could have sneaked in and stolen it, especially as the train had been on the move pretty much all the time between Susquehanna and Port Jervis. A telegram was sent to the agent at Susquehanna, asking for information about the missing car. The reply was that nothing was known there that could throw any light on the subject; quite the contrary, for the agent corroborated Little's report. The car was in the train when it left Susquehanna.

"During the efforts of the puzzled railroad men at Port Jervis to solve the mystery of the lost car, some one discovered that the car that should have been just behind the missing one was coupled to the one that should have been just ahead of it without the aid of a coupling pin, the link being broken in such a way that it had become a hook, which was fast in the pinhole in the coupler of the other car. This didn't help matters a little bit, and rather deepened the mystery.

"They were still deep in efforts to solve the mystery, and a car tracer was about to be sent back over the road to see if he could find the car, when a telegram came from Shohola, a station 16 miles west of Port Jervis. The agent at that station said in effect that somebody's cattle car was astray in a field along the Delaware river just beyond Shohola station, and that somebody had better come and look after it. The wrecking gang was sent up from Port Jervis, and, sure enough, in the middle of a field, 100 feet or more from the railroad, stood the missing cattle car, right as a trivet, except that its doors were open and its cattle gone. To get where it was the car had run down a ten foot embankment, across a wagon road and through a stout rail fence.

"There was only one way to explain the freak of the car in quitting its train so unceremoniously. Going east along that part of the Erie the track is on a heavy down grade. Just before reaching Shohola the coupling pin that held the car to the one ahead of it must have broken. This divided the train in two parts. The head car of the rear part jumped the track, and breaking the link that held it to the car behind it, went on down the bank, getting out of the way of the cars following on the track.

"When the leading section of the divided train got to the foot of the grade, its speed slackened. The hind section caught up with it, and ran into the rear car, but not with force sufficient to do any damage or attract attention. The broken link, then a hook, happened to fall into the pinhole of the coupler ahead of it. The train was thus recoupled and went on to Port Jervis without the loss of a car right out of its very center having been discovered by any one. There is no parallel to this one in the record of mishaps to railroad trains, and it has never ceased to be a wonder to all old time railroad men.

"Well, whether the doors of the fugitive car were broken by the jar and jolt of its trip down the bank, through the fence, and across the lot, or whether the cattle inside kicked them open, I can't say. They were open, and the cattle jumped out. It was winter, and the Delaware river, only a few feet away, was filled with running ice. The cattle must have been in a panic, or must have known that they were in Pike county, Pa., or something of that sort, for they plunged into that icy flood and made their way across the river into Sullivan county, N. Y. Searchers, accompanied by the drover who owned them, found and recovered them all. One cow, a deep red animal with a white star in her forehead, took the fancy of a farmer on whose premises some of the cattle were found, and he bought her. She had twin calves in the spring, each marked exactly like the mother. One was a bull calf, one a heifer. Because of the way in which the stock happened to be there it was called the Coe Little breed, and for some years was a favorite breed among the farmers of that part of the valley."—New York Sun.

RAISING OF THE BEAR FLAG.

THE fiftieth anniversary of the raising of the Bear Flag in Sonoma on the 14th day of June, 1846, is now near at hand and if we are to celebrate the event, as we assuredly ought to do, it is about time something was being done in the matter. We would suggest that the Pioneers and Native Sons get together and make preliminary arrangements for a grand celebration in Sonoma on that day. We have assurances from Sacramento, Santa Rosa and many other places to stand in with Sonoma and make it an event long to be remembered. It is but fitting that the Pioneers and Native Sons should take the matter in hand, to the end that the event which was fraught with so much importance to California, be properly celebrated and public recognition given to the heroes who, in times that "tried mens' souls" dared assert that independent spirit which characterizes all true American citizens.

Beware of Counterfeiters

Who infest the market and are the means of robbing sick people of their money, and what is of still greater consequence of not unfrequently aggravating the complaints under which they labor. It is an act of duty we owe to society to warn the people against these dangerous frauds. A little care on the part of the purchaser will protect them from imposition by bearing in mind these facts: Never buy where it is offered in bulk, (in kegs or jugs) as the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are sold only in bottles having the handsome steel plate label displaying the combat between St. George and the Dragon, and having at the bottom a minature note of hand for one cent, bearing a facsimile of the signature of the president of the company. Over the cork is a metallic cap, on which is impressed the name of the article, together with a medallion head in the center. Any person selling the counterfeit Hostetter's Stomach Bitters we shall not hesitate to bring to justice, as we never fail to convict.

Woman's Work

Is never done, and it is especially wearing and wearisome to those whose blood is impure and unfit properly to tone, sustain, and renew the wasting of nerve, muscle and tissue. It is more because of this condition of the blood that women are run down,

Tired, Weak, Nervous,

Than because of the work itself. Every physician says so, and that the only remedy is in building up by taking a good nerve tonic, blood purifier and vitalizer like Hood's Sarsaparilla. For the troubles Peculiar to Women at change of season, climate or life, or resulting from hard work, nervousness, and impure blood, thousands have found relief and cure in

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

HEAVY SNOW STORM.

The Snow! The Beautiful Snow! — Envelopes Mountain and Valley.

Early Monday morning a heavy snow storm set in and the white flakes fell without interruption for several hours. By seven o'clock the valley and surrounding mountains were covered to a depth of several inches, giving Sonoma Valley a most wintery aspect.

It continued to snow off and on throughout the day and there was also a heavy fall on Monday night and Tuesday morning.

Snow balling was all the rage all day Monday and was heartily engaged in by both young and old. With one or two exceptions the victims took their medicine good naturedly, as it is seldom Sonoma is visited with a snow storm.

A slight damper was put upon the ardor of a number of youngsters who were engaged in the sport when they attempted to assail Conrad Futterer, the tailor. He became very angry and in order to protect himself from a pelting drew his six-shooter and pointing it at the crowd of snow-ballers exclaimed: "I schoot you! I schoot you!" The irate Teuton thus called them and went them one better. As there is a big difference between snow balls and pistol balls the youngsters scattered in every direction, leaving the angry tailor in possession of the field. They left him alone the balance of the day.

The fall of snow was the heaviest that has been known in this valley for years and, coming so late in the season, it is feared that it will do great damage to fruit, particularly cherries, almonds, apricots, peaches and prunes, as many of the trees are in full bloom or are just budding.

Death of Jas. J. Cooper.

Jas. J. Cooper, a former resident of this place, on Monday last died in San Francisco, where he removed with his family a few years ago. Mr. Cooper was a pioneer of Sonoma, having come here many years ago. The deceased was a brother-in-law of Patrick Monahan, the well-known farmer residing on Sonoma Mountain. He leaves a wife and several children. The deceased had reached the ripe old age of 87 years. The funeral took place from his late residence in San Francisco on Wednesday.

House Demolished.

The fall of snow during the recent storm was quite heavy on the mountains north of town and in several instances trees were prostrated by the weight of snow on their branches. A large tree, heavily weighted with snow and standing alongside of Gus Anderson's residence, a few miles north of Sonoma, fell with a crash on Monday last and demolished the chimney of the house and did other damage.

Deputy Assessor.

Wm. E. Thomas of this place has been appointed by Assessor Vanderhoof a deputy for Sonoma Township vice G.S. Harris, resigned. The latter found it impossible to attend to the duties of the office without neglecting his private affairs, hence the resignation. The new appointee is well and favorably known in Sonoma and will make a good and conscientious official.

Delinquent Tax List.

Elsewhere in these columns will be found the delinquent tax list of Sonoma City for the fiscal year 1895-96. It will be seen that the delinquency is very small this year, which speaks well for the promptness of our citizens in settling with the city. Suit against the property advertised will be commenced according to law unless the taxes, percentages and costs are paid prior to the first Monday in April.

Loss of a Valuable Horse.

The thoroughbred mare, Belle of the Lake, dam of the famous running horse Claquer, the property of Thos. Jones, fell into a ditch on the Buena Vista ranch, one day during the recent storm, and died from exposure. The animal was valued at $600.

The Rebekahs.

Miss Fannie Benjamin, Grand President of the Rebekahs, will pay a fraternal visit to Verdant Degree Lodge, No. 99, I. O. O. F., next Thursday evening.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

THE COMMITTEE WAIT UPON SUPERINTENDENT DAVIS.

Sonoma's Prospects Good for Securing the Institute.

The Matter to Be Decided Next Week---Sonoma's Hospitality.

The committee selected to wait upon School Superintendent Davis and urge Sonoma's claim to the forthcoming Teachers' Institute called upon that gentleman last Monday.

After listening patiently to the committee he stated that as yet he had made no promises to Healdsburg or any other town in the county. He promised to take the matter under consideration and let the people of Sonoma know some time next week whether they will get the Institute or not.

Taking it all in all Sonoma's chances for walking off with the prize are as good if not better than those of Healdsburg, which has had political conventions and Teachers' Institutes galore the past ten or twelve years, while Sonoma has always been left out in the cold. This being so, and as the matter rests entirely with Mr. Davis, than whom there is no fairer man, we cannot see how he can overlook Sonoma's claim.

We can accommodate the several hundred teachers that will attend the Institute as well as any other town in the county. There is no spot in all California that can beat Sonoma Valley in hospitality, which it always extends to guests or strangers. For years its people have been noted far and wide for their generosity and liberality and we are sure that they will not be lacking on this occasion.

In the event of Sonoma's securing the Institute ample accommodations will be provided for all those who attend for from $1.00 to $1.25 per day. In addition to this various kinds of amusements will be provided visitors, and their brief sojourn among us will be made as pleasant as possible.

INSTITUTE NOTES.

T. H. Goodman, General Passenger Agent of the Southern Pacific Company, has informed R. M. Sims by telegraph that his company, in case Sonoma secures the Institute, will reduce rates between Santa Rosa and El Verano to 90c the round trip, and that a connecting train for 120 people will be put on during the stay of the teachers in Sonoma.

Dr. A. E. Osborne of the California Home has generously offered to entertain the teachers on any one day during their sojourn in Sonoma. They will be taken through the institution and over the grounds, a special entertainment will be given by the inmates, and all will be invited to partake of a fine lunch. The busses belonging to the Home will be placed at the disposition of his guests.

Alleged Boycott at El El Verano Being Investigated.

Frank A. Riser, an employee of the Pacific Improvement Company, who it is claimed has lorded it over the residents of El Verano as a sort of Spanish grandee on the island of Cuba, the past year or so, was summoned to appear before Mr. Hayes, a representative of that company, on Thursday last, on complaint of a number of business men and farmers of that town. He was charged with boycotting out of personal spite not only the business men of that town but also the Postoffice and express office. Mr. Hayes listened patiently to the charges and left on the afternoon train to report to his company in San Francisco. They people of El Verano are deserving of sympathy in this matter. They have invested their all in that place and surely are deserving of fair treatment at hands of the local manager of the P. I. Co.

Planting Resistant Vines.

J. E. Poppe has had a force of seven or eight workmen engaged the past week in setting out 50,000 Riparia resistant cuttings on the Poppe property back of the residences of J. B. Small and Trustee Henry Hartin. These vines will be used in partially rejuvenating the drooping vineyard industry of this valley.

Shotgun Lost.

Lost—On Monday last, between Napa and Sonoma and Sonoma or Kenwood, a breach loading Parker shot gun, No. 10 bore. Finder will please leave at this office and receive reward. *

CITY TRUSTEES.

The City Trustees met in regular monthly session last Wednesday evening, Trustees Poppe, Bulotti, Schocken and Hartin being present.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and approved the following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

Luigie Maffei, hauling gravel	$ 75.00
John Revie, hauling gravel	30.00
L. Modini, cleaning fire apparatus	8.00
J. E. Robin, salary	15.00
V. Bulotti, labor	3.00
C. Valente, labor	16.45
Total	$147.45

The bill of J. G. Marcy for rebate was rejected.

Trustee Bulotti called the attention of the Board to the manner of notifying property-owners to level off and otherwise improve their sidewalks. He stated that whenever the Trustees passed a resolution to that effect that it was the duty of the City Marshal to notify the property-owners interested that unless the orders of the Board were complied with within a reasonable time the work would be done by the city at their expense.

Trustee Hartin reported that the proposed new road to the Cemetery on Second-street East would cost between $300 and $400. He recommended, as a member of the Street Committee, that the old route be improved. No action.

Trustee Bulotti moved that Broadway be graded and graveled and that the sum of $200 be appropriated. The motion received a second from Trustee Schocken and was carried.

On motion of Trustee Hartin $100 was appropriated for improving the Plaza.

The Cemetery Committee was instructed to wait upon C. Aguillon and ask his permission to erect hitching posts on the west side of the road leading to the entrance of Mountain Cemetery. F. Clewe appeared before the Board and stated that he had received several proposals to build a stone wall along the line of the creek facing his property on Napa street and fill in the sidewalk with earth. He submitted the following bids:

A. Pinelli	$160.00
A. Andran	175.00
L. Nessi	140.00
G. DeBernardi	170.00
A. Caminati	149.99

L. Nessi being the lowest bidder the contract was awarded to him, the city paying $100 and Mr. Clewe $40.

Clerk Breitenbach read the sworn statement of the receipts and disbursements of the Vallejo Water Works, which showed a net income of $507.75 during the year 1895.

The following resolution was introduced by Trustee Bulotti:

Resolved, that the rates for water furnished to the City of Sonoma and its inhabitants by the Vallejo Water Works, as established by Ordinance No. 43, for the twelve months commencing July 1st, 1895, are hereby adopted as the rates to be collected by any person, association or corporation from July 1st, 1896, to July 1st, 1897. On motion of Trustee Hartin the resolution was adopted.

Clerk Breitenbach was instructed by the Board to give proper notice of the municipal election to be held in this city on April 13th, 1896, for the selection of three Trustees, one Treasurer, a Clerk and a City Marshal. The Board then adjourned.

Fine Apples.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Engler, whose farm is located one mile west of town, laid us under obligations this week for a box of winter apples. The fruit was gathered last fall and was in remarkable fine condition, being free from all imperfections. Accompaning the apples was a fine lot of tomatoes. It is seldom that one enjoys sliced tomatoes during the winter months, but that is just what we have been doing the past week.

French Laundry.

By reference to advertisement in another column it will be seen that Sonoma has a French laundry. Mrs. Giumini, one of the proprietors, is a first-class laundress and we bespeak for the lady a share of the public patronage. The work turned out by her laundry is said to be first-class in every sense of the word. All things being equal our citizens ought to patronize this laundry.

Justice Cheney's Court.

D. B. Crudgington has commenced suit in Justice Cheney's Court against Edwin Lord of Embarcadero to recover the sum of $140 for seven months' wages at $20 per month.

Secured the Contract.

Geo. W. Beatty, the popular butcher of Glen Ellen, has secured the contract for furnishing the Home for Feeble Minded with meat for the year 1896. He commenced delivering last Sunday.

Arbor day will be observed by the students of the Sonoma High School. A literary treat and appropriate ceremony will be in order, to which all the friends and patrons of the school are invited.

Every good housekeeper saves her tea leaves, for she knows that for cleansing purposes they are unequalled. After they have been saved for a few days steep them in a pan for half an hour; then strain through a sieve and use the tea to wash all varnished paint. It will cleanse the paint from all impurities and make the varnish shine like new. It should be used in cleaning window-sashes and oil-cloths and is said to wash window panes and mirrors much better than water.

J. Chauvet, one of Sonoma Valley's most prominent wine merchants, was registered at the Grand Hotel, San Francisco, one day this week.

The hot-water remedy is always the best one for making the complexion beautiful. It is very simple and equally safe, two good points in its favor. If persisted in, blackheads will soon depart and the complexion will assume the pink and white appearance of a baby. The hot water treatment should be indulged in every night and morning. At night the face should be bathed in water as hot as one can stand, and then thoroughly rubbed with good cold cream.

Geo. D. Clark of San Francisco, Grand Lecturer of the Native Sons of the Golden West, paid Sonoma Parlor a fraternal visit last Monday evening.

Frank Weems is contemplating the erection of a $2000 cottage on Broadway.

There is no happier, cosier picture of home life than a little family groupe gathered about the evening lamp, while some member of it reads aloud. These evening readings can be made educational and developing in many ways, which the ready feminine mind, eager for improvement, will easily devise. A good plan is to provide a different kind of reading for each week.

A pleasant birthday party was given to Master Horace Appleton at his parents' home near Sonoma last Saturday afternoon. At an early hour a number of friends gathered at the Appleton home where the time was merrily spent in playing games and dancing. Choice refreshments and a beautiful birthday cake were partaken of. The latter part of the afternoon was devoted to story telling and dancing, much to the enjoyment of all. This good time was had in honor of Master Horace's fourteenth birthday anniversary.

Black velvet and moss-rose buds are a popular combination. A pretty three-cornered walking hat is now much worn. The point is in front and the trimming just above. It consists of a diamond buckle holding three ostrich tips of exactly the same size, the two outside ones being black and the middle one white.

Geo. Spanning of this place is spending a month's vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haderman at their home in San Mateo.

J. O. Kuykendall of Santa Rosa has secured the contract for erecting a fine two-story cottage in Glen Ellen for Geo. W. Beatty.

Jos. Revie, whose little three-year-old son, George, was badly burned about the feet by walking into a heap of hot coals and ashes, about a year ago, will take the little fellow to the Childrens' Hospital, San Francisco, to-morrow and place him under the care of Dr. Sherman for surgical treatment. Georgie has shown signs of being a cripple about the ankles from the burns he received, and Dr. Sherman has hopes of entirely curing the defect.

Miss Grant has returned from Mexico and is a guest at the Emparan residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Duhring and little son went to the Bay City Thursday.

Wm. Hope has returned to Sonoma and is sojourning on the Engler farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hardy (nee McGill) formerly of Oakland, have taken up their residence in Sonoma.

Erman Minster of the metropolis visited at the Fochetti residence last Sunday.

Robt. Hill took the morning train for the metropolis last Thursday.

It is now optional with a widow if she keep her husband's initials or not. It is quite proper to use them in addressing her, and Mrs. Grundy is more and more sanctioning it, to distinguish the widow from the divorced woman. The latter takes her own initials.

LEAP YEAR PARTY AT TEMELEC HALL.

A fine house, rooms exquisitely decorated in oranges and ferns, a congenial company and a charming young hostess made the Leap Year party of the Alumini, held at Temelec Hall, the magnificient residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wickersham near Sonoma, a pattern of excellence and one hard to be surpassed in this valley.

"The moon shines bright—in such a night as this,
When the sweet wind did gently kiss the trees,
And they did make no noise in such a night,
Stood Dido with a willow in her hand.
Upon the wild sea-banks and waft her love
To come again to Carthage."

The festivities of the evening opened with dancing and the minutes winged their way with pleasure until a late hour when a delicate repast was served. After this some wended their way back to the ball room, some to the card table and others strolled through the beautiful orange groves. What soft words were uttered there "the stars alone can tell." The toilettes of many of the young ladies were simple but handsome. Three of the Alumini wore entire white costumes of silk and lace. Misses Thompson, Wadsworth and Sellers were thus attired. The Alumini received many compliments on the success of their first party.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, MARCH 7, 1896.

THOUGHT THE KAISER STUPID.

A Coachman Told Him He Would Never Set a River Afire.

An amusing little story about the present emperor of Germany, William II, and a Vienna coachman was narrated at a banquet lately given at Vienna by some diplomatists, the narrator being himself a well known and prominent member of the corps diplomatic.

In the year 1887 the present Emperor William II of Germany, then Prince William of Prussia, came to Vienna, visiting his particular friend and chum, the late Crown Prince Rudolf of Austria. Joined by the Prince of Wales, who was at that time also a frequent visitor to the Vienna court, the three princes took a fancy to mingle with the commons of the Vienna population. Dressed in ordinary clothes, they visited places which are not in the least regarded as suitable for princely guests.

One day they entered a hotel, but instead of going into the dining room they walked into the "schwemme," a place which answers in some degree to the barroom of an American hotel; in this room coachmen and the servants of the hotel guests take their meals.

The three princes took seats at an empty table, and listened, highly amused, to a fierce debate about politics between several stout members of that class of fashionable Vienna coachmen who are known all over Europe as "fesche Wiener flaker." The distinction of those charioteers is a kind of good natured boldness and droll familiarity toward their customers as well as to perfect strangers.

After listening awhile Prince William put in a word, and soon was drawn into the excited discussion. Suddenly a stout, red faced coachman walked up to the table where the three princes were seated, and, tapping Prince William gently on the shoulder, said, "Now, if you should ever have anything to say in politics, you wouldn't set a river on fire, I'm sure!"

As every public coachman in Vienna wears a number, this coachman was—upon a special request of Prince William—easily identified. The prince sent him a handsome scarfpin with his initials as thanks for the amusement he had furnished, and thus the man learned in amazement whose political abilities they were that he had so belittled.—Vienna Letter in New York Press.

IN PLAGUE TIMES.

How London Handled the All Devouring Sickness In the Seventeenth Century.

During the plague of 1603 Francis Hering, "Doctor in Physicke and Fellow of the Colledge of Physitians in London * * * published certain Rules and Directions for the prevention of the spreading of that contagious and all devouring Sickness." These he reprinted, "somewhat inlarged," in the next plague season of 1625, "to the view and vse, and I hope good of my Cittizens and Countrimen." Among his rules are:

"Concourse of people to Stage playes, wakes or feasts and May pole dauncings are to be prohibited by publique Authority, whereby, as God is dishonored, the bodies of men and women—by surfetting, drunkennes and other riots and excesses—disposed to infection, and the contagion dangerously scattered both in Citie and Countrie.

"Let not the carkasses of horses, dogs, cats, etc., lye rotting and poisoning the aire (as they have done) in More and Finsburie fields, and elsewhere round about the Citie.

"The burying of infected bodies in churches, churchyards and, namely, in Paules Churchyard, where the chiefe Magistrates of the Citie and many other Citizens meete weekly to hear Sermons, must needs be not onely inconnenient, but verie dangerous for spreading the contagion, and poisoning the whole Citie."

Some folk ate breakfast then, others did not:

"For breakfast you may vse a good draught of wormewood beere or ale, and a few morsels of bread and butter, with the leaues of sage, or else a toste with sweet salade oyle, two or three drops of rose vinegar and a little sugar. They that haue cold stomackes may drinke a draught of wormewood wine or malmsey, instead of ale or beere. But take heed (as you lone your life) of extreme hot waters, as aqua vitæ, Rosa solis or other compound waters of like nature, which Empericks prepare and set out with vaine and boasting words * * * they were * * * devised to kill, not cure men."—Notes and Queries.

A Remarkable Tree.

There is a wayward white oak tree near Laporte, Ind., that may well puzzle naturalists with the vagaries of its growth. The tree is 9 feet in circumference at the base, and there are no branches of any size below 15 feet from the ground. There the great bole divides into a number of limbs. Two, leaving the trunk about 20 inches apart, grow west, their lines diverging for some 6 feet, and then each rending toward the other. Twelve feet from the body of the tree they unite again, making a perfect oval, and out of this grow two smaller branches. As if not satisfied with that expressed disregard for the laws of nature, this old tree has performed another feat. Six feet from its base grows another white oak, less than half its size, and no sooner does the smaller tree arrive at the charmed circles of those branching limbs than one of them grows right into it, and is absorbed. The second tree is very much larger 20 feet from the ground than at its base.

Noah's Business.

While teaching a class of girls in a school recently, the master asked the following question:

"What was Noah supposed to be doing when the animals were going into the ark?"

He received several answers. At last a little girl put up her hand.

"Well," he said, "what do you say?"

"Taking the tickets, sir."—Buffalo Times.

Frog Egg Curiosities.

Frogs' eggs are laid before they really become eggs in the true sense of that word. They are always laid under water, and when first deposited are covered with a sort of envelope in the shape of a thin membrane. In this shape they are very small, but as soon as they come in contact with the water they rapidly absorb that element, and in so doing go through a queer transformation. The thin membrane containing the little seedlike eggs is quickly changed into great lumps of a clear jellylike substance, each section joined to the other, the whole forming a string from a few inches to several feet in length. On the inside of each of these lumps of jelly the eggs come to perfection, and in due course of time add their quota to the frog population of the world.—St. Louis Republic.

He Won His Bet.

One must take the word of an archdeacon, or I should be inclined to request further particulars in the case of the patron whom Archdeacon Wilson mentioned at the conference at Carnforth the other day. A certain living—so said the archdeacon—had fallen vacant by death. The patron summoned to him his legal adviser, who explained that the presentation must be entirely gratuitous. "But," added the lawyer, "I will bet you £1,000 that you do not present my son-in-law." Curiously enough, the son-in-law was the lucky man.—London Realm.

No Danger.

"My dear," said young Mrs. McFlimsey to her husband, "I do wish you would not go about the house in your shirt sleeves. People will think your father worked for a living."

"They won't when they know his son."—Detroit Free Press.

PRICKLY ASH, POKE ROOT AND POTASSIUM

Makes Marvelous Cures in Blood Poison Rheumatism and Scrofula

P. P. P. purifies the blood, builds up the weak and debilitated, gives strength to weakened nerves, expels diseases, giving the patient health and happiness where sickness, gloomy feelings and lassitude first prevailed.

For primary, secondary and tertiary syphilis, for blood poisoning, mercurial poison, malaria, dyspepsia, and in all blood and skin diseases, like blotches, pimples, old chronic ulcers, tetter, scald head, boils, erysipelas, eczema—we may say, without fear of contradiction, that P. P. P. is the best blood purifier in the world, and makes positive, speedy and permanent cures in all cases.

Ladies whose systems are poisoned and whose blood is in an impure condition, due to menstrual irregularities, are peculiarly benefited by the wonderful tonic and blood cleansing properties of P. P. P.—Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 14th, 1893.—I can speak in the highest terms of your medicine from my own personal knowledge. I was affected with heart disease, pleurisy and rheumatism for 28 years, was treated by the very best physicians and spent hundreds of dollars, tried every known remedy without finding relief. I have only taken one bottle of your P. P. P., and can cheerfully say it has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I can recommend your medicine to all sufferers of the above diseases.
